

Auto Makers Search for Devices to Stop Thieves

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT
Though much attention has been focused on auto safety devices in the last two years, auto engineers recently have been burning their lights overtime designing equipment in another area — the thwarting of car thieves.

Mechanisms planned for 1968 models include buzzers that warn if car keys are left in the ignition, more key-lock combinations and steering-column locks.

Of course, a motorist can do a lot for himself in discouraging car thefts. On the market are several anti-burglar alarms, horn devices, a siren and electrical cut-out systems.

The one drawback on these mechanisms, which usually are highly effective, is that the motorist must remember to flick the switch when leaving the automobile. Since 60 per cent of all autos stolen last year had the keys in the ignition, insurance concerns and law enforcement agencies would prefer that anti-theft devices be built-in by the auto companies.

THE INSURANCE people say that businessmen are especially vulnerable, since it is the late model cars that are stolen, mostly in urban areas. Indeed, statistics indicate that a motorist's own driveway is a risky place to leave a car with the keys dangling from the dashboard. So play safe: remove the key and lock the doors — even in "the best neighborhoods" — and check your insurance.

The growing popularity of high-performance cars and completion of more high-speed highways in the U. S. are promoting development of tires with new designs to give motorists a safer, smoother ride. A prime example is a new tire to be marketed next year that will provide the important advantages of both radial and wide-tread tires.

The tire, called "Radial Wide Profile," was designed by B. F. Goodrich. Its tread is 14 per cent wider than conventional new-car tires and up to 10 per cent savings in fuel consumption, according to P. W. Perdreau, president of the company's tire division.

He said this tire, a tubeless one, is the first wide-tread tire of radial construction to be accepted as new-car equipment by automobile manufacturers. It will be available on 1968 Ford Mustangs, Falcons and Fairlane GT's, and Mercury Cougars. Other car makers are evaluating the tire for possible use as optional equipment on some 1968 models, he said.

The United States Treasury is on a campaign to out-board the coin hoarders. The government agency is plucking out all the old dimes and quarters as soon as, in their normal flow, they reach the Federal Reserve. The old coins are 90 per cent silver — which is in short supply — and are being put aside and replaced by those containing larger shares of copper and nickel.

Worthington Corporation disclosed in "A Report to Harrison, N.J., on the off-the-job activities of its 16,000 U. S. employees showed that in 1966 they donated more than 400,000 hours of their time to various civic and charitable projects.

The survey results were Henry" was prepared as part of the company's continuing economic education campaign for its employees.

ONE SECTION of the report, for example, examines spending by Worthington employees and their families in terms of their effect on retail businesses. In 1966, it says, they spent $11 million for clothing, enough to support 82 average size clothing stores for gasoline, enough to keep 44 service stations in business, and more than $27 million for food, a volume that would support 18 supermarkets.

The company is a major producer of equipment serving basic needs for food, water, energy, health and sanitation, and transportation.

There seems to be no slackening of interest in girl watching, nor in the determination of the girls to rate as worth-watching phenomena. A new compact containing three pressed powder eye shadows flecked with gold will be introduced soon by a cosmetics company. The three shades are blue gold, green gold, and of course, gold gold.

WATCH WEIGHT

Persons who are 30 per cent over normal weight run twice the risk of heart attack in middle age than persons who are of normal weight, the Heart Association reports.

1. TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS CLAIM 13,000 LIVES YEARLY AMONG PERSONS AGED 30-60 IN UNITED STATES.

2. LONG-TERM FRAMINGHAM (Mass.) STUDY INDICATES ELIMINATION OF SMOKING IN THIS SAME AGE GROUP COULD CUT HEART ATTACK DEATH RATE THERE BY AT LEAST 40%.

3. IF FRAMINGHAM'S EXPERIENCE IS TYPICAL OF NATION, THEN ELIMINATION OF SMOKING COULD MEAN 600,000 FEWER HEART ATTACK DEATHS IN THIS AGE GROUP YEARLY.
